

A Children & Families Bereavement Service for Leeds

Join the conversation

Leeds City Council is investing in a brand new service to support children who have been bereaved and their families.

We're looking to gather the views of a wide range of people who have been affected by childhood bereavement and those who support them either professionally or within their community.

- What services are already out there?
- What help and support do children and their families need?
- What should our new service provide?
- Where would families access the service?

Join the conversation and help us design a really special service for the city. Here's how to get involved:

Come along to our consultation event on:

Wednesday 6th June, 12.30 – 2.30pm at Leeds Town Hall
